

TPRF Launches 'Peace for People Appeal'

The Prem Rawat Foundation (TPRF) launched a fundraising campaign June 11 with the goal of raising $100,000 for peace initiatives. All donations made to the "Peace for People Appeal" will go directly toward advancing Prem Rawat's message that peace is possible for each individual.

TPRF is undertaking an array of creative initiatives to cultivate an understanding of personal peace, including sponsoring live forums, television broadcasts, and the Peace Education Program (PEP), which is now available in 48 countries.

"We need your help to keep expanding these initiatives as well as develop new ones," says Daya Rawat, who volunteers as president of TPRF. "Every day I hear of how the message of my father, Prem Rawat, is changing lives. It is truly exciting to witness the groundswell of hope gaining strength across the world."

Matching funds of up to $47,000 have already been offered by six generous donors so that each dollar donated will be effectively doubled in value. As part of the Appeal, TPRF will release four new videos—one each week for the next four weeks—highlighting the work that the donations make possible.

To contribute and view the videos, visit the special Peace for People Appeal webpage here.